Welcome to the University of the Highlands and Islands

The University of the Highlands and Islands gives you the chance to do something different; something special. With campuses across the Highlands and Islands of Scotland, we offer you a natural, supportive environment for studying at postgraduate level and achieving your ambitions.

If you would like to study in a country of outstanding natural beauty, friendly communities, and cities buzzing with social life and activities, then the Highlands and Islands of Scotland should be your first choice.

Postgraduate study and research

At the University of the Highlands and Islands you can study one of a growing number of taught postgraduate courses in specialist areas, some reflecting the unique environment, landscape and culture of the Highlands and Islands of Scotland. These courses are often linked to academic research being carried out by our staff and students.

Research is undertaken across the university at a number of specialist centres. The university is developing a strong reputation in certain niche areas of research, many of which draw directly from the natural environment in which we are located.

International student profile:

- Since 2012 the University of the Highlands and Islands has had over 300 international students and this number is continually growing
